Welcome!

LA County Land Acknowledgment

The County of Los Angeles recognizes that we occupy land originally and still inhabited and cared for by the Tongva, Tataviam, Serrano, Kizh, and Chumash Peoples. We honor and pay respect to their elders and descendants past, present, and emerging as they continue their stewardship of these lands and waters. We acknowledge that settler colonization resulted in land seizure, disease, subjugation, slavery, relocation, broken promises, genocide, and multigenerational trauma. This acknowledgment demonstrates our responsibility and commitment to truth, healing, and reconciliation and to elevating the stories, culture, and community of the original inhabitants of Los Angeles County. We are grateful to have the opportunity to live and work on these ancestral lands. We are dedicated to growing and sustaining relationships with Native peoples and local tribal governments, including (in no particular order) the

2024 Call for Leadership Circle Members

4 MISSION, VISION, AND VALUES FOR THE LEADERSHIP CIRCLE

In spring 2023, the Leadership Circle Design working group¹ drafted the Mission, Vision, and Values for the Arts Ed Collective Leadership Circle; the draft included below is offered as an initial guide for the work of the Leadership Circle.

Mission

The mission of the Arts Ed Collective Leadership Circle is to inform the ongoing, collaborative efforts of a network of individuals, organizations, and public agencies focused on the care and wellbeing of young people, and the adults who support them.

Guided by the Arts Ed Blueprint, the Leadership Circle centers its work within arts education and artsbased youth development, with a focus on affecting institutional, governmental, and social change that will ensure all young people grow up with the arts because the arts are fundamental to human growth and development.

The Leadership Circle carries out its mission by gathering, synthesizing, and amplifying the voices and needs of people most impacted by systemic injustice, and providing feedback to inform government, philanthropy, schools, community organizations, creative industry employers, and other stakeholders in the field to be responsive to those needs, and to leverage their networks and influence to advance equity and justice in arts education.

The work of the Leadership Circle is to:

- · promote transformative, culturally relevant high-quality learning in the arts;
- · connect and coalesce the people engaged in the network;
- uplift and champion promising practices and resources within and across the field;
- surface both emerging and longstanding opportunities and challenges;
- consider systems-level solutions to increase the health and function of the ecosystem (including but not limited to public infrastructure, connection and alignment with social services, labor practices, physical spaces, more equitable distribution of funds, etc.);
- put forward recommendations for improving our ecosystem in ways that will expand opportunities for young people to engage in transformative arts experiences, in schools and in communities.

Vision

The Leadership Circle helps to cultivate and foster a collaborative network that enables every young person in Los Angeles County to have access to the arts, while also supporting the adults who support youth. The evolving vision of this network is guided by a dynamic, engaged, powerful group of individuals who will represent the concerns, challenges, and accomplishments of the larger arts education ecosystem. The members of this Leadership Circle are in deep listening relationships with — and are reflective of — the communities they serve. They are trusted members of the community and are able to influence decision-makers as a result of their broad and inclusive community connections across the County. They employ human-centered and youth-centered approaches to leadership, both inside and
